Scope

Following the suggestions of former SIC participants, as well as incorporating the experience gathered in previous SIC Conferences, next year's event will concentrate on the issues directly associated with computer systems in chemistry, in particular with:

- chemistry on the Internet
- distance learning in chemistry
- computer-aided structure elucidation
- computer-assisted reaction modelling and syntheses design
- response surface methodology
- property prediction of chemical compounds
- databases and data mining techniques in chemistry
- chemometrics
- computer simulation and modelling in chemistry

Important Dates

- 30 June 2007 - submission of registration forms and abstracts
- 30 June 2007 – lower conference fees payment deadline
- 10 October 2007 – information on the conference program
- 18 October 2007 – 1st day of the Conference
- 30 November 2007 – submission of full papers
- 31 December 2008 – conference monograph publication

Official Languages

- language of abstracts – English
- language of full papers – English or Polish
- language of presentations and discussions – English or Polish.

Publication

Papers can be submitted in one of two categories: lectures or short communications. Abstracts of lectures and short communications will be published in the Conference Proceedings and presented on the conference homepage. Full papers selected by the Program Committee will appear in the post-conference monograph entitled Information Systems in Chemistry. The payment of the conference fees is a necessary condition for inclusion into the Conference Proceedings and the post-conference monograph.

Instructions for Authors

Abstracts (in English) should not exceed one page (including the title of the presentation, the names and affiliation of the authors, and the references). Full text of the lectures (in English or Polish) should not exceed 8 pages, and short communications – 4 pages. The papers should be organized in accordance with the instructions available on the conference homepage.

Abstracts and full papers should be submitted in electronic form (MS Word format) as an attachment via e-mail to the SIC contact e-mail address.

Accompanying events include

- Welcome party
- Excursion (Ukraine or Slovakia or the Bieszczady Mountains)
- Presentation of software
